

Subject: PAS 2021 Virtual: Updated information for Scholarly Session participants

Sent on behalf of Belinda Thomas

Dear PAS 2021 Scholarly Session Chairs and Presenters,

As we prepare to say goodbye (good riddance!) to 2020 and embrace the new year, we are working diligently to create the program schedule for the PAS 2021 Virtual Meeting and nail down all the logistical details.

We anticipate we'll be able to share schedule information by early February. In the meantime, here are some points to remember as a participant in a Scholarly Session:

1. All Scholarly Sessions will be pre-recorded—but don't worry: the presentation upload window will be March 22 – April 16, so you have plenty of time.
2. All Scholarly Sessions will be broadcast during Phase I, April 30 – May 4, 2021, unless otherwise indicated. More information about the schedule is available here.
3. We'll have detailed information about best practices and tutorials well in advance to guide you. And we'll be available to support you every step of the way with training and technical support.
4. If you are presenting in a Panel Discussion or Roundtable that requires a high degree of interactivity during the session, we will be in touch to discuss group recording instructions.
5. All Scholarly Sessions will have 90 minutes of content, with 30 minutes of Q&A afterwards. We are working to include as much interactive Q&A as possible—the schedule will include multiple opportunities and methods. You may be asked to be present for a live Q&A for your session.
6. If you have questions, please reach out to catha.smith@pasmeeting.org.

We appreciate your participation in the meeting and your patience as we work through the details. We hope this helps reassure you that there aren't any deadlines over the next few weeks!

Wishing you a happy holiday season and a healthy new year.
